SUBJECT: Trip Report - AC Power Supplies, AP-3 and PS-10

1. On 17 December 1960 a visit was made to [] to monitor progress on the subject task. This task provides for the design and development of two AC power supplies for the 300 word per minute automatic agent radio set, AS-3. The AP-3 is a miniature unit and the PS-10 is a relatively larger and cheaper version of the AP-3 unit with identical electrical characteristics. Those present at this meeting were:

2. The circuit and layout design of engineering models of both units and the purchase of electronic components have been completed. Both units are scheduled for delivery early in January. There was one misunderstanding with the contractor which had to be corrected. This was on the power plug pin connections. It appeared that the power plug connections would not mate properly with the AT-3 transmitter, however, it was necessary to delay conformation of proper pin connection until the writer returned to Headquarters. The correct information has been supplied to the contractor as of this date. [] felt that they were able to meet all the requirements of our specifications.
